Dear Church,

It is time again for us to reaffirm our covenantal commitments to this community that links each of us together as one family of faith. For well over a century we have occupied this corner of Cave and Ivanhoe inviting the community to find here a place of full acceptance, radical hospitality, and abundance. Decades upon decades of people just like you have found inspiration here, have formed life-long friendships here, and have allowed their minds and hearts to be challenged by the wild Gospel we proclaim.

As we approach the 2024 year—my seventh among you—I invite you to prayerfully consider the ways that you might be a part of our ministry in 2024. Through time, talent, and treasure, we all have something to offer. But let me remind you, there is nothing you can give or not give that will earn you more of less of God's love. No matter what you are able to do, or not do, you are a beloved child of God, an integral part of this community, and your seat at the table is here, prepared for you and waiting for you every single Sunday. No exceptions.

I continue to grateful every day that I get to be a part of this church and be your pastor. I look forward to what this year and the coming years have in store for us.

With grace
